Borough Solons Begin Critical Study of Fire Protection Facilities

Warren borough councilmen are casting a critical eye on the community's water main and fire hydrant system with a view toward augmenting fire protection facilities—and a report submitted to the solons at their February meeting last night by Fire Chief C. A. Albaugh indicated there is plenty of room for improvement.

The fire chief's report, read by R. H. Trussler, chairman of the committee, declared several of the mains and hydrants in the business district are inadequate, and should be replaced with larger units.

The report also pointed out that some of the industrial plants on the "flats" on the East Side are having no fire protection because of "dead end" mains in that area.

One hydrant tested in that section, the fire chief said, didn't have enough of a flow "to put out anything."

Trussler also pointed out that fire protection for the entire south side now depends on one water main across the river. He said there formerly were two mains connecting the south side with the main water system in Pennsylvania avenue, but that the one crossing the river near Laurel street is broken and has not been used for some time.

Councilman T. K. Creal, II, said the Laurel street main went out of service about 15 years ago and that it never has been repaired. He suggested that a new main be installed across the river connecting the south side so that a continuous loop could be established connecting the central part of town with the south side, the west side and back again to the central area.

"We've been very lucky that we haven't had a bad fire on the south side," declared Councilman C. A. Miller. "If we had a serious fire over there and the one water main across the river happened to break, we'd be out of luck."

Miller asked that the solicitor check into the matter to see whose responsibility it is for getting the Laurel street main across the river put back into service, or replaced by a new system as suggested by Councilman Creal.

Miller also said he believed that fire protection for the east side industrial area could be improved by linking two present dead end mains to form a continuous loop.

Borough solons, in addition to scanning the fire protection system, decided what to do about the Fire Department's old ladder truck which will be replaced soon with a modern hydraulic aerial ladder equipment.

The solons previously had received a bid of $350 for the truck as junk, but this was turned down. Instead, the town fathers, on recommendation of the fire committee, will turn the truck over to the State Hospital at North Warren to augment that institution's ladder facilities in event a serious fire occurs there.

The agreement between the borough and the hospital provides that it will be maintained and operated in running order by the hospital. In event the truck is ever needed in the future to help fight a fire in Warren borough, the hospital has agreed to see to it that the truck is brought immediately to the fire scene and turned over to the fire department.

The solons applauded the recommendation of the fire committee, pointing out that the additional ladder facilities, available at the hospital, will be worth far more to the Warren firemen than the small sum that could be realized by selling the truck for junking purposes.

FEDERAL COURT INDICTS BUILDER AND SALESMAN
Pittsburgh, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Claims that walls leaked on a new house purchased for $15,000 in suburban Brookline have led to the indictment in Federal Court of a contractor and a real estate salesman.

The Grand Jury yesterday indicted Contractor John M. Santoro and Salesman Paul N. Smith, both of Brookline. They are charged with conspiracy to cheat and defraud and false pretense.

Edward Shenker of Pittsburgh, claimed to have bought a house from the men which they said was "one of the best built in East Brookline."

MAGAZINE FOLDS
Pittsburgh, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Publishers of the Bulletin-Index, weekly news magazine published here for 73 years, say they will suspend publication with the Feb. 12 edition. They say the step is necessary because of loss of revenue and increasing costs.

WOMAN MISSING
Kane, Feb. 8.—(AP)—State and local police searched today for Mrs. Beatrice Stacey, 43-year-old Kane mother of eight children. Her husband reported she disappeared from her home Friday.

MILLAGE IS SET

LIFE TERM IS SET BY COURT FOR CARDINAL

Five-Man Peoples Court Strips Catholic Church Primacy of all Worldly Possessions

U. S. IS CRITICISED

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty received a life sentence today from a court which stripped him of his worldly possessions and criticized the United States as a meddling in Hungarian affairs.

The five-man peoples court, representing a Communist-backed government, classified Cardinal Mindszenty as a traitor to the country. It declared he had tried to overthrow the regime in favor of Royalists, and had speculated illegally in American dollars.

The court also convicted Cardinal Mindszenty's six co-defendants, three of them on the same treason charge, and ordered them to serve sentences ranging from three years to life.

The Cardinal appealed his sentence, leaving the higher court three alternatives—to let it stand, reduce it or increase it to death by hanging.

Prosecutor Gyula Elap, attacked the life sentence today. He called upon the people's court to take the life of the 56-year-old Cardinal. But further consideration of the case was left to the appeals court.

(Pope Pius XII prayed in sorrow when the news reached the Vatican. He was expected to speak out later on the treatment accorded the Hungarian primacy—to join the leaders of the church in a condemnation of the trial and its climax.)

In ordering confiscation of the Cardinal's possessions and sentencing him to life, Judge Vilmos Orthy said the court had considered several factors as being in Cardinal Mindszenty's favor.

The court took into consideration that the Cardinal had confessed, and that he had lived far from the United States, through Minister Selden Chapin, had misled the Cardinal—"made him hope that the United States of America would start a war, and that this war would help him attain his aims."

One of these aims, the court held, was to resist in Hungary the Hapsburg rule which dominated this area in the heyday of kings.

U. S. Minister Chapin had a great role in building up the activities of Mindszenty," the judge said, attacking the United States as a supporter of reactionary forces.

Anti-Eviction Bill Before Assembly
Harrisburg, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A new House bill aimed today at concerted action by landlords to take rental housing off the market by wholesale evictions.

Rep. George D. Stuart (R.-Allegheny) introduced the measure which he said was designed to prevent a repetition in Pennsylvania of mass evictions threatened recently by Tulsa, Okla., landlords.

The bill provides that two or more landlords who "maliciously conspire and agree to evict or threaten to evict their respective tenants x x x for the purpose of withdrawing rental units from the market" would each be subject to penalties of up to a $500 fine and six months in jail.

Two other measures touching on landlord-tenant relationships also were introduced in the lower chamber last night. One sponsored by Rep. Paige Varner (Clarion) would prohibit discrimination by landlords against renting homes to families with children.

The other, submitted by Rep. Joseph A. McGee (R.-Phila.), would require landlords to give six months—not 30 days as at present—notice before evicting tenants.

Gavin Asks Action On Old Age Benefits
Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Rep. Gavin (R.-Pa.) wants "action now" by Congress to increase old age benefits.

Gavin told the House yesterday cold and hunger are non-partisan sufferings that Congress should do something about immediately.

"This is not a partisan matter," Gavin said. "Republicans are just as hungry and just as cold as Democrats and vice versa. Republicans and Democrats are working together in this Congress to do something about this pressing matter."

He made no specific recommendations, saying the amounts involved should be determined by the ways and means committee and the House.

CONFERENCE OPENS
Bradford, Feb. 8.—(AP)—More than 200 persons came here today for the annual one-day Spring conference of the Bradford-Park Allegheny district of the Evangelical United Brethren church. The district embraces 28 churches in Northwestern Pennsylvania and Southwestern New York.

Dr. Halvard Lange, Norwegian foreign minister, talks to newsmen after arriving in Washington to discuss his country's possible participation in the projected North Atlantic Defense Pact. Russia has already issued a second warning to Norway against joining the pact.

School Directors Approve Preliminary Drawings For Proposed New Grade School

Holding a very busy February session at the High school last evening, members of the school board heard and approved the presentation by a representative of Lawrie and Green, architects, of preliminary plans for the proposed new elementary building to be erected eventually at the corner of Conango and Jefferson avenues.

It is explained that in order to take advantage of government grants, such preliminary drawings must be approved locally, as well as in Harrisburg and Washington, no later than April 15. Details of plans may be worked out later.

Also presented was the proposed set-up and changes to be made at the "Home street" building, this work undoubtedly to take precedence over the new building in order to facilitate handling of Johnson school pupils while that structure is being erected.

Again, members of the board went into the matter of the smoke nuisance, which has been slightly improved with help of an expert called in, but no real solution of the problem was found. Discussion of fire protection at the High school was referred to the committee on buildings and repairs for consultation with Borough Engineer C. W. Barwis.

Dr. Carl E. Whipple, assistant superintendent, reported on the outcome of Progressive Achievement Tests given at the end of the semester; on the progress of the driver education program; on the study being made of the program of different elementary schools in the borough; and on a lighting clinic which he and President Melvin Keller recently attended in Cleveland.

He also spoke of a speech clinic which has been arranged with the extension division of Pennsylvania State College, whereby specialists will come from the college for study of individual pupils and conference with their teachers.

Principals Floyd Bathurst and Herbert Harris were granted permission to attend the national meeting of secondary school principals to be held in Chicago the latter part of this month and Dr. Whipple was given permission to attend a special school meeting in Edinboro the third week in June.

PUC Member Approved By State Senate
Harrisburg, Feb. 8.—(AP)—John B. Conly, Pittsburgh attorney, will begin a 10-year term on the Public Utility Commission April 1.

Already a member of the regulatory agency, Conly's reappointment by Gov. James H. Duff for a full term was confirmed yesterday by the state senate. The post pays $10,000 a year.

He originally was appointed by Duff on May 27, 1947, to fill out the unexpired term of the late Ralph H. Thorne, of Williamsport.

The senate at the same time confirmed without dissent more than 400 appointments made by Duff between sessions of the general assembly.

These were headed by Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, liquor board member Frank D. Armstrong; milk control board member Charles J. O'Loughlin and Fish Commissioner Charles French.

Action was held up, however, on the appointment of three members of the state tax equalization board. They are John O'Neil, chairman, Edwin Winner and Walter J. Kress. There was no explanation for the delay in confirming the trio in the $19,000 a year places.

Most of the other appointments confirmed were to boards of state institutions and county assistance boards.

Warren's Soot Problem Is Blamed On Improper Fuel Oil Combustion

Northwest Penn'a Council Approves Real Estate Oil-Gas Research Levy and $5 Per Capita Tax

A long stride toward possible solution of Warren's puzzling soot problem was taken by the borough councilmen at their meeting in city hall last night.

Councilman T. K. Creal, II, chairman of a special smoke committee, read a revised report from Shepard T. Powell, combustion engineer of Baltimore, who said the peculiar soot balls that have fallen intermittently in the borough during the past year and a half "could have been caused by improper combustion of oil fuel or oil sludge."

The engineer ruled out burning of coal as a possible cause, and pointed out that the sootings could have been caused wherever oil is used on large scale for heating purposes, whether in an industry, public building or business. Knowing the type of fuel which caused the nuisance, however, will give the committee something definite to work on in the future.

Creal also recommended that the $1250 bill for services be paid the combustion engineer. This bill was held up by the solons at their January meeting until the committee could press the smoke expert for more specific information concerning what type of fuel would cause the peculiar soot balls. In his first report, the engineer had merely stated that the soot samples he had collected from stacks and chimneys in Warren last fall didn't match the samples collected during a heavy sooting in October, 1947.

Several other recommendations submitted by the committee were presented. These included discharging the present committee, comprised of Creal, Burgess W. F. Crosssett, Solicitor S. D. Blackman and H. A. Creal from its duties, and appointment of the borough ordinance committee as a permanent smoke committee.

It also was recommended that the new smoke committee meet with representatives of large fuel users in the Warren community and work out some sort of a permanent organization to check air pollution on a year-around basis.

Creal said his group already had met with representatives of refineries in the area, and that they indicated a willingness to operate in such a plan. Other industries and large fuel users are expected to offer the same cooperation.

Borough solons also gave final approval to their 1949 budget, the largest in borough history, approved the same tax millage on real estate as last year plus a $5 per capita tax on all persons in the borough over 21 years. The levy on real estate is 15 mills for general government purposes and one mill for the sinking fund, earmarked to retire bonded indebtedness.

The budget provides for anticipated expenditures of $245,335. Before the per capita tax ordinance was passed on third and final reading, Council President W. E. Rice read several letters expressing favorable comment on the proposed tax plan, and said all councilmen had received a letter of protest from W. Robert Walsh. Rice also said he had made a personal survey, and that 95 out of 98 persons he had talked to indicated their approval of the per capita tax plan.

Union City Garage Blast Injures Two
Union City, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A father and son were burned, the father critically, in an explosion and fire in a small garage yesterday.

Jay Campbell, 57, was reported in critical condition at Hamot Hospital, Erie. His son, Leo, 24, was recovering from burns about the face and hands.

Firemen said the elder Campbell was working on a truck with an acetylene torch which he laid down momentarily. An explosion and fire followed. Damage to the truck and the building, itself, was estimated at $3,000.

LOCK HAVEN RESIDENTS DIE IN TOLEDO CRASH
Cincinnati, Feb. 8.—(AP)—City Detective David Newsum got a straight answer to a straight question yesterday.

"How did you get into this country?" he asked a man picked up on suspicion of illegal entry into the United States.

"After, I'm a full-blooded Sioux Indian. I was born here," the man replied. "How did you get here?"

RE-APPOINTED
Harrisburg, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Gov. James H. Duff has reappointed John C. Heston, of Erie, to another term on the Pennsylvania State Game Commission. The governor also nominated Earl R. Gallop to be a justice of the peace in Smethport.

REORGANIZATION BILL GOES BEFORE SENATE
Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—President Truman's request for broad power to reorganize the government rested with the senate today following overwhelming approval by the house.

The bill to give the president permanent authority to reshuffle a sprawling array of executive agencies subject to a veto by congress got its way in the house last night by a thumping 356-9 margin.

Aside from the veto provision and another setting up special treatment for seven agencies, the bill would give Mr. Truman practically a free hand in streamlining the complex executive establishment, which in 20 years has grown from 350 to 1,800 agencies and from 570,000 to 2,100,000 employees.

The measure now goes to the senate, where former President Herbert Hoover ran strong interference for it yesterday before the senate executive expenditures committee.

Hoover is chairman of the commission created by the last congress to map reforms for the whole executive branch.

In its first report, the commission recommended a vast re-arrangement of agencies, including a merger which would leave only some 20 offices where 65 now exist.

Ambassadors Conferring On Defense Pact

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A meeting of ambassadors of countries negotiating a North Atlantic defense alliance was called today in the midst of American discussions with Norway about the proposed pact.

The State Department announced a meeting with the North Atlantic powers—Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—would be held in the afternoon (APES).

Nothing was said as to the purpose, but it was believed Secretary of State Acheson wanted to discuss the questions submitted by Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange at a conference yesterday.

Lange is here for discussions designed to determine, in effect, the price of admission for Norway into the North Atlantic Security Alliance.

The Norwegian government delegation, it was learned, has questioned the State Department about what protection, if any, Norway could expect while it is considering and negotiating membership in the alliance.

The meeting of the ambassadors of the western nations is the first since Acheson became secretary of state last month.

The last previous meeting was Jan. 14 when former Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett was handling the negotiations.

Legislation To Free Toll Spans Planned
Harrisburg, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Legislation to free Pennsylvania's last privately-owned toll bridges will be introduced next week with an administration label.

Sen. George N. Wade (R.-Cumberland) told the State Senate last night that "final touches are being put on a series of bills covering all aspects of the problem."

He emphasized they will have the full backing of Gov. James H. Duff, but declined details.

Congressman Rep. Adam Bowser (R.-Northumberland), told a reporter he will seek to have the proposed new State Building Authority take on the job of freeing the toll spans.

Bowser and Rep. Charles Reagan (R.-Union) already are sponsors of a measure to utilize a $10,000,000 bond issue approved 15 years ago to finance the undertaking. This plan, however, would require the state to collect tolls until the bonds are liquidated.

The private spans are two at Bethlehem, two here, and one each in Sunbury, Allentown, Point Marion, Clarcks Ferry, Chartiers-Montebello and Ellwood City-Koppel.

EXTENDED FORECAST
Extended forecast for the period Tuesday, Feb. 8 through Sunday, Feb. 13:

Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia: Temperature somewhat above normal for the period; colder Wednesday, warmer by Friday; colder Saturday; rain or snow around Thursday night and again near end of week; total precipitation about one-half inch.

Senator Chapman Is Honored At Dinner In State Capital
State Senator Leroy B. Chapman of Warren was given a testimonial dinner in the Plantation Room of the Penn-Harris hotel in Harrisburg last night in honor of his 20 years of service in the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Dr. Chapman, who is serving his fifth term in the State Senate, was presented with a wallet. The presentation was made by Judge Albert D. Wade of the Warren County court.

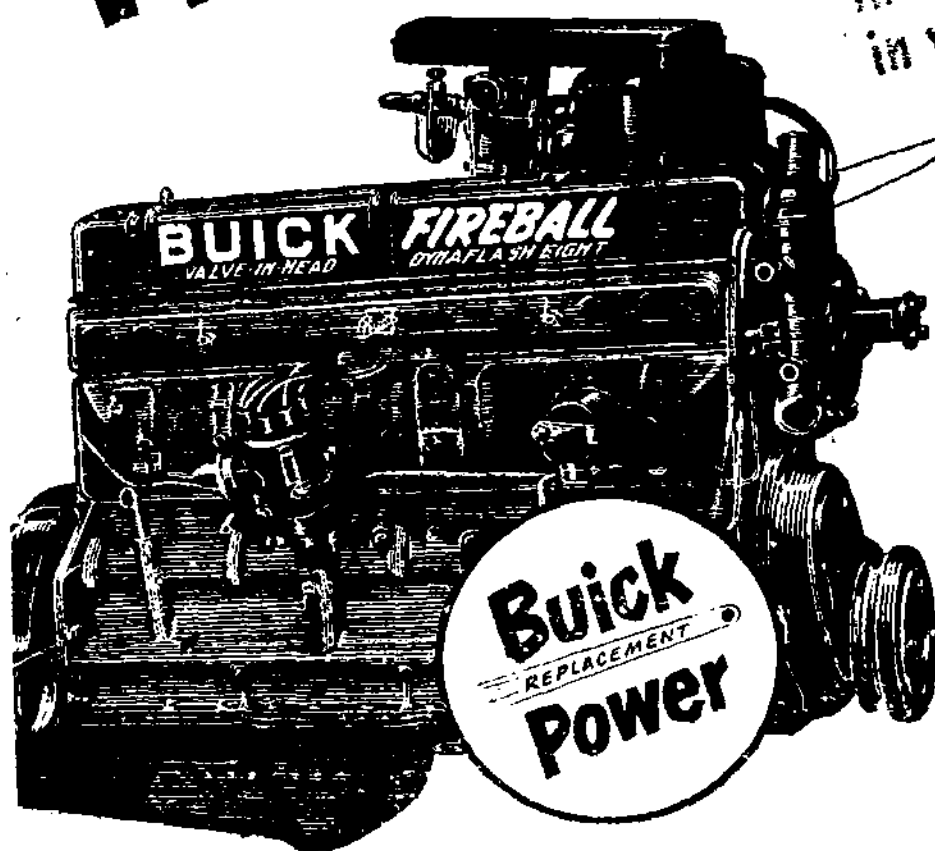

The dinner was attended by Governor James H. Duff, who spoke briefly. PUC Commissioner John Siggins, Rep. Allen D. Gibbons of Sheffield, and Rep. John H. McKinney of Venango county, Warren County Republican Party Chairman Jesse Smith, Warren county officials and Warren residents now employed at the State Capitol in Harrisburg.

Dr. Chapman was first elected to the Senate in 1930 after previously serving as a school director and burgess in Warren and corner of Warren county. He is chairman of the Senate's powerful appropriations committee.

Youngsville Council Adopts 1949 Budget, Fixes Tax Rate

Youngsville borough council, in its regular meeting held last evening, adopted its budget for 1949 and passed on third and final reading Ordinance 203 fixing the tax rate again at 21 1/2 mills. A prolonged discussion was held on insurance problems confronting the borough, with the result that a committee composed of Councilmen Spencer and Bradway were authorized to negotiate for fire coverage on all borough property. The committee was also instructed to investigate the cost of a sprinkler system for borough buildings.

A contract for testing the city water supply was awarded to the Brockway Testing Laboratories for the sum of $20 for a quarterly test. A motion was made and passed to have an ordinance drawn up for presentation at the March meeting to impose a tax of $50 annually on all juke boxes, pinball machines and shuffleboards in the borough.

Superintendent Floyd Helman was authorized to purchase a pressure recorder for the water system in the amount of $81.50. This object will show any unusual water demand caused by leaks as well as give indication of the demand in different seasons of the year. Routine bills in the amount of $198.64 were ordered paid. Burgess Warren J. Kay was authorized to attend the convention of Pennsylvania boroughs to be held in Harrisburg on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Other matters discussed included proposed summer work on borough streets and the possible extension of sewers on Second street. Police Chief Chappel reported three arrests for disorderly conduct during January, one of which was found not guilty; one accident investigation; 55 parking tickets issued; and parking meter collections in the sum of $273.67. Justice of the Peace Brazee reported $78 in fines collected and Justice of the Peace Johnson reported $80 in fines paid into the borough treasury.

Red Cross Is Starting New Swim Classes

The American Red Cross again wishes to remind all interested persons of the new swimming classes starting this week in the YMCA pool. There will be class instruction offered for swimmers and non-swimmers of various types suitable to the desires and capabilities of those wishing to enroll. The only qualification is that a participant must be 14 years of age or older.

Two classes will be held each Tuesday night, one from 7:00 until 8:30 for all persons wishing to learn to swim; another from 8:30 until 10:00 for those who can already swim.

This latter class will be especially helpful for those swimmers who wish to improve their swimming strokes and skills in the water. Intermediate and advanced swimming, as well as diving, will be taught in this class.

Junior and Senior Life Saving will be taught between the hours of 8:00 and 10:00 on Thursday nights to all qualified swimmers who wish to sign up this coming Thursday. A qualifying test in the water will be given all participants in the Life Saving classes.

All persons interested in learning to swim or in improving their swimming are invited to join any of these classes.

Although the number in each class must necessarily be limited, it is hoped that each class will be filled to capacity.

Non-members of the "Y" will be requested to pay a small fee for use of the pool, the only financial consideration connected with the conduct of these Red Cross classes.

Expect Many To View Color Travel Movies

The Brotherhood of St. Paul's Lutheran church is anticipating a capacity audience at 8 p. m. Thursday, when it will sponsor the showing of three sound films in gorgeous color and describing the countries of Scandinavia. The films are shown through the courtesy of the Scandinavian Airlines System.

The film, "Picturesque Denmark" is a fine introduction to this small country twice the size of Massachusetts. The audience is taken on a comprehensive tour of Denmark which includes her capital, Copenhagen; her rich farmlands and country towns; her sea-coast and fishing villages; bathing beaches and resorts; the island of Funen, home of Hans Christian Andersen; and the large peninsula of Jutland.

Tremendous glaciers, skyscraper mountains, breathtaking fjords, impenetrable forests and a jagged coastline mark many of the interesting scenes in the movie film, "Majestic Norway." Besides this one can view the typical villages; the fishing hamlets; the capital, Oslo; Lapland and the northern country that has given Norway her name, "Land of the Midnight Sun."

The fertile plains of the south, the lake and forest regions of central Sweden and the mountainous Lapland in the north are pictured in beautiful color in the film "Picturesque Sweden." The films include the chateau country, Dalecarlia, where native costumes are worn; Visby, the only walled city in northern Europe, and Sweden's beautiful capital, Stockholm.

A comprehensive review of their former homeland is presented in these films to all Scandinavians.

Special Events Are Marked By Services

Youngsville, Feb. 8.—Special services were held Sunday in the E. J. B. church in recognition of World Service Day. At the 11 a. m. service, the meditation was conducted by Mrs. Laura Thompson, with a prayer-poem given by Mrs. Floyd Conklin, and an anthem by the choir, "Stand Up For Jesus." A very fine address which followed was given by Mrs. Maude Shampugh, former missionary to China. Prayer was by Mrs. Ellis and presentation of the offering objectives was by Mrs. Harold Thompson.

At the 7:30 p. m. service, the Christian Service Guild and the Girls' Missionary Guild had charge with Mrs. Lillian Nelson presiding; Scripture and prayer, Jeanne McKinney; song service, led by Laura Thompson; "In the Garden," sung by the girls' quartet. Objectives of the offering were explained by Mrs. Floyd Conklin as evangelical and health work overseas and at home. The message of the evening was given by Mrs. Harold Lindquist, using as her subject the theme of the year for the Service Guild, "We Press On."

Boy Scout Service
Sunday seemed to be the day for special services in Youngsville churches. In the Methodist church the morning worship was dedicated to the Boy Scouts and associated organizations of the church and community. The service opened with the organ prelude, "Two Antiques," Beethoven. A responsive service for the Scouts was led by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Chitester. The Boy Scoutmaster William Clark and Assistant Robert Knapp were seated together. The choir sang the anthem, "Thou Art My Shepherd," Handel. The subject of the sermon by the pastor was "Adam and His Sons."

WCS
Mrs. Nellie Anderson was hostess to the February meeting of the WCS evening group at her home, West Main street, with a good attendance. Miss Helen Fifer conducted the study period on "China—Twilight or Dawn." Mrs. Nell Rounds gave a report on conditions in China at the present time. The society voted to make a donation for the continuance of the work in Japan, by helping Miss Edith Gustafson in sending needed articles to those in Japan who are now engaged in Christian work in that land. A pleasing luncheon was served by the hostess and committee.

The afternoon group of WCS held its February meeting with Mrs. M. H. Sellin. Mrs. R. H. Knapp was the program leader on American missionary work and there was also a study on China. A letter was read from Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Dodge, missionaries in Africa. A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Sellin and co-hostess, Mrs. Merle See.

Plans were made for the annual soup days which will be for the remaining Thursdays in February, with soup for sale, and soup dinners around twelve noon.

NORWAY'S PROBLEM

Is it possible for any nation to maintain neutrality when virtually the whole civilized world is divided into two camps—Communist and anti-Communist? For that matter, is it wise to try?

Those are the questions, in effect, which Norway will try to iron out this week in Washington.

Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange has arrived in America for conferences on whether his strategically situated country should join the proposed North Atlantic alliance. This projects a treaty among the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and other nations for self-defense.

The Scandinavian states of Norway, Sweden and Denmark, have been invited to consider joining the alliance. Norway has been leaning towards participation. Sweden fears antagonizing Russia, and Denmark is undecided.

Moscow has been trying to intimidate the trio, with special attention to Norway. The Soviet Union sent a pointed note to Oslo, intimating the Norwegians were riding for trouble. The latest Red move is an offer to conclude a mutual non-aggression pact with Norway—a proposal which still has to be considered by the Oslo parliament.

The problem of the Scandinavian countries certainly isn't easy, sitting as they do under the muzzles of Moscow's big guns. However, they are faced by the fact that Russia apparently is bent on remodeling the whole world under rule of an ideology which deprives man of individual rights.

The nations which don't resist the Red revolution will be taken over like Czechoslovakia, Hungary and the rest of the wretched slave states. This means that every nation must take its stand with one side or the other.

"Neutrality," in the accepted sense of the term, is out the window. It just can't be counted on, for the reason that ruthless aggression is stalking the world and it has no regard for the "rights" of "neutrals."

The only country which could get by with neutrality would be one which the Bolsheviks couldn't reach, or which they wanted "neutral" for reasons of their own.

TIMELY WARNING

A social security number is not a means of identification for the purpose of cashing checks or other business transactions, warns Bernard A. Farabaugh, Manager of the Erie Social Security office.

Frequent instances still occur where business firms such as retail stores, gasoline stations and even banks are victimized by phony check artists who offer a social security number as identification.

The proper use of a social security number is to identify an employee's wage account with the Social Security Administration. A fraudulently obtained number, which an employee might give his employer for reporting wages, would be to the disadvantage of no one except the holder of the number. His wages would be credited to the fictitious name. Since Social Security benefits are based upon the employee's wage account, he would incur the possibility of losing the wage credits under the fictitious name when claiming social security benefits.

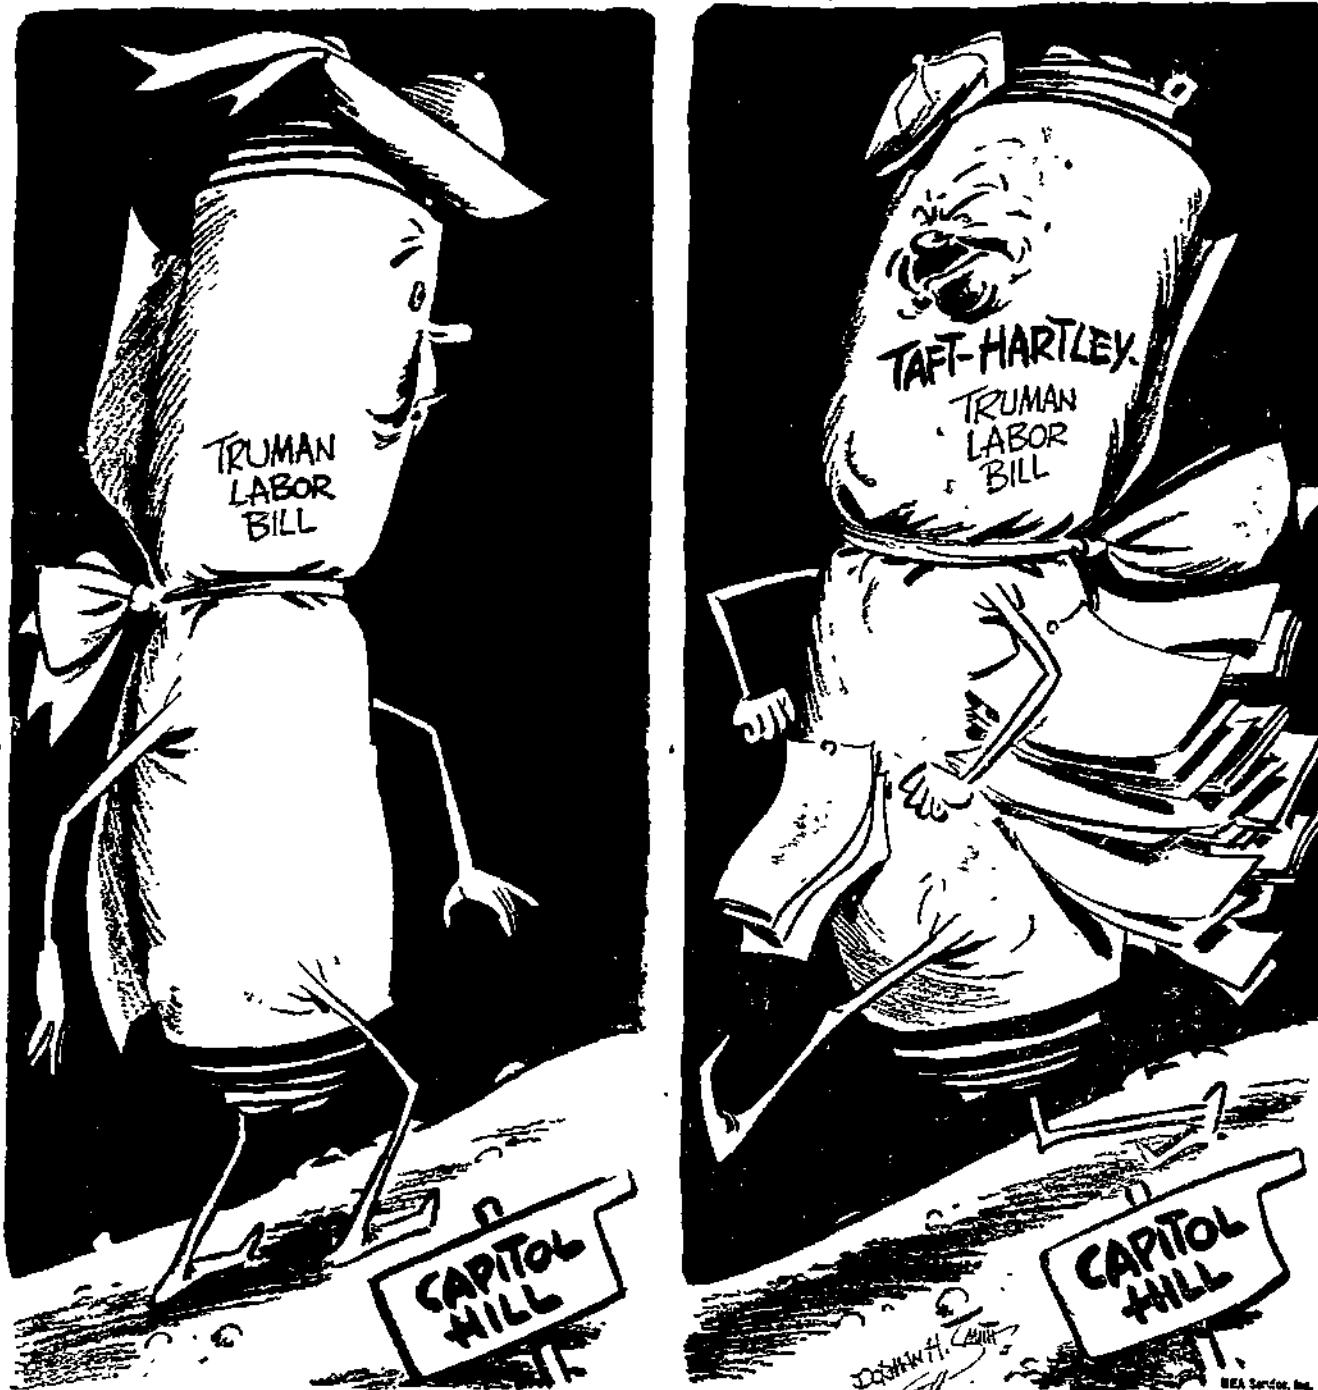

MERITORIOUS PROGRAM

Warren County Pomona Grange is to be commended for bringing to Warren and vicinity a speaker of the high calibre of Wang An Min, young Chinese student who is visiting the United States before returning to his homeland after a year's study of animal husbandry and related subjects in the British Isles. Mr. Wang was heard in two different programs over WNAE and as speaker for the noonday luncheon-meeting of Kiwanis Club prior to his appearance at the quarterly session of Pomona in Youngsville on Thursday. His personal interpretation of the crises China is now meeting, the general Chinese opinion of Chiang Kai-Shek, and the effects of Communism on the present conditions of the Chinese people provided a new approach to the subject which many listeners were eager to hear, since it is only by listening to all available information that a correct opinion on a controversial question may be formed.

The difference between a statesman and a politician is that the first works for the public and the second has the public working for him.

More women than men live to be 100—shooting full of holes the old theory about talking yourself to death.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

At Oil City, they released a motorist who failed to bring his car to a halt at one of the boulevard stop signs, when the autostop proved that the letters on the sign were only five and three-quarters high, while the state motor code states that they must be at least six inches high. There were only six arrests for intoxication, making the month of January a very dry month. Through the January issue of the Pennsylvania Veteran, it is learned that J. H. West, Main avenue, has been made adjutant for the Department of Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars in the U. S. Mr. West has also accepted the position of editor of the magazine. The draying and storage business of the C. C. Smith Company has been sold to the Masterson Transfer Co. with headquarters at 805 West Third avenue and J. Clifford Johnson in charge as manager. The C. C. Smith Co. will continue in the automobile business. Miss Winifred Cray is to be hostess to a sleigh-ride party in which twenty of her young friends will participate. A group of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mays, of Youngsville, surprised them at their home on Bates street. A luncheon was served by the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Mays, recently married, were presented a gift by their friends.

Clark Gable and Norma Shearer play opposite each other in 'Idiot's Delight' at the Library. The Indoor Carnival, to be held at Warren High School, will feature tumbling, diving and dancing under the direction of Homer Fleming. Harry Summers, supervisor of instrumental music in the Warren public schools, spent Thursday evening in Franklin, where he had been invited to officiate as guest conductor for the fourth annual mid-winter school concert. New pangs were reported among survivors of Chile's earthquake after more shocks, described as 'very strong', rocked the same region where between 25,000 and 30,000 already had died. The First Baptist church, of Frewsburg, will celebrate its 101st anniversary with an appropriate program at which Paul H. Young, formerly of Warren, and now pastor of the church for two years, will preside. The Rev. John Bengtson of Warren, will be the principal speaker. Curtailement of the WPA program and a slack season in private industry, continued to build up public assistance rolls in Warren county.

Scout Leaders Hold Pow-wow At First Presbyterian Church

Cub Leaders of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America enjoyed a very instructive afternoon and evening at a Cubbing Pow-Wow on Saturday at the First Presbyterian church.

The Pow-Wow was set up as a training experience for Cub Leaders and was divided into four different subjects: administration, handicrafts, games and ceremonies. The group was welcomed by C. Vance Weld, General Chairman of the Pow-Wow and a review of the program was given by Scout Executive Frank Parker.

The group was then assigned to different rooms where they worked on their special subjects.

The administration section was in charge of James R. Coker, Pack 11; the ceremonies and entertainment section, Frank Seely, Cubmaster of Pack 2; Handicraft section, Philip Reynolds, Pack 11; and Game Section, D. D. Blanchard, Scout Executive of the Elk Lick Council, Bradford. The administration section discussed the administration and organization of a Cub Pack and the Committee program, planning, summertime program, the achievement program, and the parents part in Pack Meetings. Ceremonies section included the candle board, Pack Advancement ceremonies, Den opening ceremonies, and other entertainment. The handicraft section included the bead work, making of bracelets, lanyards, plaster moulding, wood working and pottery. Pottery to be used in the forthcoming ceremony.

CLARENDON

Clarendon, Feb. 4—The regular meeting of the Philanthian Bible class was held in the Methodist church parlors. Devotions were conducted by Gertrude Damm, following which the business meeting was opened by the president. Various questions were discussed and gifts were exchanged by Secret Sisters. It was also decided to discontinue Secret Sisters Club for the present time. The program committee, Mary Campbell and Gertrude Damm, entertained with an interesting program. Some of the ladies also brought some sewing, after which the hostesses, Maud Hyer and Mabel Ferguson, served a delicious lunch. The next meeting will take place March 1st, with Mabel Dykins and Anna Dorsey acting as hostesses.

Miss Shirley Jewell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jewell, is spending some time visiting friends in California.

William Wikoff is recuperating from an operation which he underwent in the Warren General Hospital last Friday. His many friends are hoping for his speedy recovery.

HER SECRET STAR

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 17

THEY spent a lazy three hours in Provincetown and said very little. Then, at Jack's suggestion, they walked to the end of quaint Commercial Street. Here, a long, rocky breakwater joined the mainland to the small sandy area on which a lighthouse was located. Betty pointed to the breakwater. "I feel adventurous," she said. "What do you say we walk it and look at the water from there?" She had never felt less adventurous in her life, but she had to do something, anything, that would stop her from thinking of Gertrude. She knew she had not heard the whole story, but somehow she couldn't ask questions. "All right," Jack said. "But I'm warning you it'll be tough walking. We can't go far. The tide's coming in and sometimes it covers the breakwater."

Presently Jack shouted to her. "Better start back now. At the rate we're walking, the tide will move faster than we can."

"Oh, no!" she called back, without looking around. "I'm just learning how to walk on these things."

"Don't be a fool," he exclaimed, and started toward her.

She looked around then, and saw that she had come farther than she'd realized. There was water on either side of the rocky ledge and the tide was coming in quite fast. She knew a moment of panic as she felt herself grow dizzy and faint. Jack called to her: "Don't look at the water. Look at the rocks. And stand where you are."

HE PICKED her up in his arms and carried her back to the shore. "You'd have been all right if you hadn't got scared," he told her. "You did go too far, but you had nothing to fear but fear."

When he released her, he leaned over and kissed her on the lips. "Rescuer's reward," he said.

Chapter 18

JACK BARNES stood at the desk of the Standish Hotel talking to the manager and wondering if he looked as badly as he felt. At best, he reflected, this interview would make him the laughing-stock of his co-workers.

At the worst, Jack reflected still further, the interview would result in his losing his job as day clerk. The manager was a difficult man and extremely critical of his help. Jack didn't want to lose the job. He had hoped to make good on it, if only to prove to his father that he was worthy of the salt that went into his bread.

He hadn't wanted to come to the hotel at this hour of the night and in this unsightly condition. Moreover, it made a liar out of him. He was supposed to be home, sick with a summer cold, at least that was what he had told the manager on the telephone this morning.

But he had no choice in the matter. He had promised both Betty and Mrs. Warren to bring Gertrude back alive and unharmed.

"Is Bobby Costello, the band leader, still registered here, Mr. Grant?" he asked by way of an opening. He did not want to incriminate Gertrude if he could possibly help it.

"No," he checked out around noon. Say I thought you were sick, Barnes."

"I—er—yes, I am sick." That was no lie, Jack reflected. He was sure he had never spoken truer words. He had expected to find Gertrude at Costello's side weeping over his wounds and otherwise making a fool of herself. If Costello had gone, undoubtedly the dumb little fool had gone with him.

"You don't look sick. Matter of fact, you look—" The manager paused and peered over his glasses.

"Looks like I'm falling in love with you, sugar. Shall we leave it at that, or shall we try for marriage?"

"We'll leave it at that," she said. "Only don't kiss me again. We've been going out together all summer having fun. Don't spoil everything."

"Okay," he said. "I shouldn't have kissed you anyhow."

"You don't have to worry about me, Casanova," said Betty. "I happen to have other plans. I'll be too busy to bother with such nonsense as love and marriage."

"You don't say," Jack's comment on her unexpected pronouncement was accompanied by a frown. "Gee, that's a funny attitude for a girl to take. Too busy to bother with love and marriage, eh? Sure I can't make you change your mind?"

Betty shook her head. "No, you can't. Nobody can. And I am going to be busy. In a few weeks it'll be fall. I intend to go back to New York and take up where I left off. I was in training to become a nurse, you know. I never should have stopped."

The words seemed to tumble out without her volition. It was almost as if her subconscious mind had dictated this decision. Suddenly she knew what she wanted. She wanted to be wanted. To be needed, to be useful. This was her heart's desire, her secret star. And until this very minute she hadn't known it.

SEVERAL hours later when they were on their way home Betty was surprised to see Jack turn into the dirt road which led to Alden Beach.

"But it's late," she protested. "I promised Aunt Minniebelle I'd be home before midnight."

"You will," he told her. "You can phone Aunt Minniebelle from Playland. I thought we might stop at Playland for just one dance. I know I look terrible. Hope you don't mind if I turn to bury my face in your hair while we dance."

At the battered young man who, in another incarnation, had been his favorite day clerk "Barnes!" he roared. What the devil's happened to our face?"

"Nothing," Jack, shielding his face with his hand, tried to assume a nonchalant air, and failed miserably.

"Nothing?" repeated the manager. "Good God, man, do you mean to stand there and say—?"

Words failed him.

"I—well, I first cut myself with a razor when I was shaving. Then I ran headlong into a—er—a door. You know how things always happen in three's. Mr. Grant," he added lamely. "First you come down with a cold in the summer. Then you cut yourself. Then you start bumping into doors and things. You know."

Much to Jack's surprise, the manager appeared to believe him. "That's too bad," he said, shaking his head in commiseration. "Once I cut myself three times on the same day with the same razor. Nobody would believe that either."

The grin that followed the manager's cryptic remark emboldened Jack to inquire about Gertrude. "Is Miss Warren registered here? Miss Gertrude Warren of Carrollton?"

"Here's Miss Greta Warren from Hollywood, California," he offered. "She registered sometime this morning, when the relief man was on duty. But there's no Gertrude Warren of Carrollton."

"I'd like to check on it anyhow," Jack said firmly. "If you must know, she's a little spit with her mother—about as clever or some such nonsense. You know how kids are."

He turned back to the manager. "Mr. Grant, I'd appreciate it a whole lot if you'd check. You're practically a newcomer in these parts, so you don't know what it means to a family like the Warrens for a girl to leave home. I've just been talking to Gertrude's mother and she's frantic."

But, I've got to see what's been done in the way of replacements. I know very well Costello isn't up to leading the band. But I've got to see Minniebelle."

"No, I don't mind," Betty said mechanically.

Just as soon as they reached Playland she went into a telephone booth and called her aunt. Mrs. Warren answered the phone and burst into a fit of weeping when she heard Betty's voice.

"I've been worried sick," she announced between sobs. "But why Aunt Minniebelle? I told you I'd be back before midnight and I will. It's only eleven."

It was some little time before Aunt Minniebelle could control her voice. "It's not you, dear," she said finally. "It's Gertrude. She went out early this morning and she hasn't come back."

"I wouldn't worry about that darling," Betty tried to conceal the anxiety in her own voice. "I'm sure she's all right. She's out with her friends and they don't realize how late it is—you know how late she is. Darling, besides," Betty added lamely, "she might have had car trouble. Even new cars aren't perfect. So don't you worry and—"

"But you didn't let me finish, Betty," Minniebelle broke in. "It's worse than you think. She's gone. I've been up to her room and her clothes are gone too. We didn't hear a quaver or anything either. She—well, she's just gone!"

"I'll be home in ten minutes, Aunt Minniebelle. And I'm sure—in fact I'm positive—everything is all right."

Betty had never been less sure of anything in her life. She said so to Jack Barnes, who stood waiting for her outside the phone booth, and he agreed with her. "Costello's sore too," he said. "I've got a raw dance band. I'll be you home and come back later."

IT WAS Gertrude. Even as they rapped on the door, Jack and the hotel manager could hear her weeping. Soon she came to the door and opened it. She was fully dressed, but the pink linen suit she was wearing was crumpled and tear-spotted. Her small round face was streaked with mascara and her blonde hair, with which she had tried to achieve a sophisticated effect, was now hanging in damp tendrils on her neck.

"For a moment she stood there, staring out at them, her big eyes dark with misery. She looked like anything but a sophisticated. She looked more like a tired little girl whose world has fallen apart in her hands."

"He—he's gone!" she wailed. "We were going to run off and get married. We had everything planned—and now he's gone!"

Jack patted her shoulder and made a feeble attempt to stop her from saying more. "Okay—so he's gone. Now run wash your face and let's get started for home. You mama's having catfits."

There was no stopping Gertrude. "We couldn't have gotten married anyhow—not really. He was already married. Jack. He had a wife all the time, but he didn't tell me till today. And now I'll never see him again."

"That's enough, Gertrude," Jack unwound her arms from around his neck and stepped into the room. "Skip all that nonsense and get a move on. Go into that bathroom. Wash that junk off your face before I slap my too. You're getting out of here in two minutes flat."

Gertrude's mouth flew open in astonishment, but she didn't say anything. She glared at him for an instant, then turned and flounced into the bathroom, slamming the door behind her. All men were brutes, she told herself, as she picked up a wash cloth and began scrubbing her face.

Thirty-Ninth Anniversary of the Boy Scouts Of America Being Observed Across Nation

Thirty-nine years ago today, the Boy Scout movement in America was incorporated at the nation's capital. The anniversary is being marked by Scouts, Cubs and their leaders throughout the nation with observance of Boy Scout Week, which opened Sunday and continues through Saturday, Feb. 12.

The program for the Warren County Scout Council opened Sunday with many Scouts and their leaders attending church services in groups. Many ministers based their sermon themes on the 12th point of the Scout Law, "A Scout is reverent."

Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, the 2,200,000 Scouts, Senior Scouts, Cubs and leaders will pledge themselves anew to the Scouting movement by repeating the Scout Oath.

During the week individual Scout and Cub units will be holding their own celebrations, parents' night dinners, and for the Cub Scout Packs, Elue and Gold dinners. These Unit dinners will bring out over two thousand persons including parents and friends who will gather to help the Scout celebrate the birthday of Scouting.

The theme of this year's 39th anniversary is "Adventure—That's Scouting". The Boy Scouts are working during the week and will contribute part of their earnings to the World Friendship fund. This will be an adventure in international good will. The World Friendship Fund is sending Boy Scout literature and camping materials to Scout Units in the devastated countries to help them get back on their feet again in the Scouting program. The Scouts of Warren County have contributed over two hundred dollars to this fund and during Boy Scout Week will make another contribution.

President Amory Houghton will also pay tribute to Unit leaders in America as a means of which Scouting reaches the boys. He will pass the lighted torch to the Scouters representing the Unit leaders who in turn will touch off the torches of the Scouts representing the 12 regions. Similar ceremonies will be staged in the state capitols throughout the nation. In Pennsylvania the ceremony will take place at the Eternal Light of Peace Memorial on Gettysburg Battlefield.

The Warren County Council is sending two Eagle Scouts, a Scoutmaster and the Council Commissioner to take part in that ceremony and to bring back a lighted torch from the Peace Memorial to light the torches here. Scouts Richard Rutledge of Troop 1, Richard Updegraff of Troop 9, Scoutmaster James A. Keller of Troop 12, and Scout Commissioner C. A. Babcock will be the representatives of the Warren County Council in Gettysburg. Governor James Duff and Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, Commissioner of Police in Pennsylvania; Clarence F. Urff, Region Three Executive, and Admiral Ball, and other well known persons will take part in the ceremony.

The Warren Scouts will bring the light of the Peace Memorial back to Warren where on February 19 during a Merit Badge Exposition a public ceremony will be held. Each Unit of the Council will make a torch and appoint one boy and Unit Leader to represent the unit in the torch lighting ceremony here.

Install New Scout Troop

Installation ceremonies for a new Boy Scout Troop, organized under sponsorship of the Lincoln School PTA, were held last week at the Lincoln school in Clarendon Heights.

The charter was presented to Mrs. William G. Culbertson, PTA president, by Carl E. Whipple, chairman of the Warren Boy Scout Council organization committee. Scout Executive Frank Parker installed the Troop Committee and the Scouts of the First Presbyterian Church Troop 8 of Warren, conducted an impressive candle light ceremony to install the new Scouts.

Members of the troop committee include William G. Culbertson, chairman, John E. Decker, Gail E. Mead, Laverne Nelson, Ralph Rapp, A. N. Hunter, and Gilbert McCollough. The committee chose as its scoutmaster, Harvey M. Brown.

The Scouts of Troop 8 taking part in the ceremony were under the direction of Scoutmaster Charles DeForest and included Leroy Salerno, Raymond Bartholamew, Bill Cramer, Dick Carlson, John DeVaul, Bryan Colvin, Charles Salerno and Ray English.

LANDER

Lander, Feb. 4.—The W. S. C. S. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Rowland with 27 members present. Rummage sale committee reported $5.20. Stove committee reported a propane gas stove had been purchased and Mr. Satterfield will install and furnish gas for it. A motion was made to solicit money for the stove fund. Margaret Mahan, Helen Mahan and Mrs. Beveridge were appointed a committee to make recipe books to sell to raise money. A discussion was held about serving a dinner to help purchase choir robes but no action was taken. A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Rowland for her hospitality. Lois Strong led in devotions and Mildred Swanson had charge of the study book. Dinner was served by Mrs. Emerson Spicer, Mrs. Harley Dudgeon and Mrs. Harry Lank.

Mrs. Harry Light entertained a group of neighbors Wednesday afternoon to organize a birthday club. The club will be known as the North Side Birthday club and will meet the third Wednesday of each month, with 14 members enrolled. Mrs. Light served refreshments to conclude a pleasant afternoon. ## Many Backstage Committees Busy With Preparations For Production

An unusual amount of enthusiasm is being displayed by the "backstage" committees for the forthcoming Warren Players Club production of "John Loves Mary."

Coordination of the many details involved in staging the play has been placed in the hands of Joan Marie Dunham.

Ned Shuman, set designer, reports completion of the entire set in the record time of three weeks prior to opening night. The joint efforts of set design, stage management, set construction and lighting is responsible for the rapid completion of the attractive set.

The set construction committee, composed of Marshall Moron, a veteran of many previous productions, Glen Nelson, John Lashier, Merritt Rollins, John Shaker and Charles Decker, looks forward to the completion of the set.

Stage Manager James Bailey raises the first curtain to display their craft.

The lighting committee chairman, James Hess, along with Weston Ensworth and Robert Dewey, has worked out intricate lighting effects to complement the set.

All stage properties have been obtained, with the exception of a portrait of former President Herbert Hoover, which figures in the dialogue of the play. The hand properties chairman, Joan Lavery, is assisted by Dorothy Buck and Ruth Bailey. White Stage Properties Chairman Ann Shuman has Gladys Taylor, Gertrude Neuman, Jean Nelson and Florette Curtis and in setting the scene.

Audrey Cramer, costume committee chairman, is borrowing the lack of resident five star generals in Warren County. Along with Jo Russo, Audrey Hunt, Ann Harrington and Mary Deets, she would welcome the sight of a general's shoulder insignia.

Other committees busy with plans include: Publicity, Margaret Wright, Chairman; Loola Clark, Jean Cuh, Ingeborg Schaefer, Jeanne Hunzinger and Norb Stevens. Make-up, Joyce Erickson, chairman; Meredith Jones, Vilma Brewer, and Robert Gerety; Box office, Edna Glaser, Ushers, Myrna Hoeg, all. Boothholder, Evelyn Donnelly.

Players' Club ticket holders are again reminded that mail order tickets are opened yesterday, all applications to be made to Box 300, Warren, Pa.

Brokenstraw Club At Youngsville Rite Of Interest Plans Activities

Youngsville, Feb. 8.—Brokenstraw Garden Club held its regular meeting at the H. H. Husted home, with Miss Nellie Knapp as co-hostess and an attendance of 32.

Following the usual fine cooperative dinner, Mrs. Hamilton opened the business session. After the routine reports, roll call was made particularly interesting as each member gave some patriotic quotation. It was voted that the president should appoint a chaplain for the club and Mrs. Nellie Anderson was approved for the office.

Plans were discussed for a joint meeting of Warren county garden clubs on April 5, with Brokenstraw Club entertaining. Mrs. Ford Osgood will be the hostess, with Mrs. C. C. Johnson, Mrs. R. L. Mead, and Mrs. E. C. Stillings as co-hostesses. The exact place of meeting will be announced later.

E. C. Stillings discussed a number of world problems in current events period. Roy McDowell, as "Dirt Farmer," was "Roses." He gave a history of roses which have been the favorite flower of many countries for thousands of years. The famous Egyptian King Tut was so fond of roses they were found preserved in his tomb. The speaker gave a number of ancient historical events connected with roses, as the English "War of Roses" in which the red and white rose symbols played a part.

Robert Albright, guest speaker, gave a very interesting account of Pennsylvania State Fair, recently held in Harrisburg, with 555,000 in attendance on the last day of the fair. Exhibits, including commercial shorthorns, are housed in the largest roofed building in the world.

The group from the Youngsville school agriculture department who accompanied Supervisor Albright to the fair placed as follows: In white potatoes—first, Pete Leofsky; russet potatoes, Lee Benedict. In the general award for products grown on the farm, with 172 awards made, the local boys were Paul Perkins and John Whittington. In the gold award from the state, in which only five awards were made, Paul Leofsky and Lee Benedict placed.

Mrs. Nellie Anderson will be the hostess for the March meeting, with Mrs. James Hamilton as co-hostess.

Votes of thanks were extended to the speakers and hostesses.

Episcopal Rector Reads Schweitzer, Christensen Vows

Miss Marjorie Ann Christensen became the bride of L. Duane Schweitzer in a double ring ceremony which took place at 7 p. m. Saturday, February 5, in Trinity Memorial Episcopal church. The Rev. Becher M. Rutledge officiated for the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Christensen, Hemlock street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Schweitzer, Warren RD 1.

Mrs. Carl Glotz attended the bride and David Thompson was best man for the bridegroom. Sgt. Robert N. Christensen, currently stationed at Andrews Field, Washington, D. C., and Everett Schweitzer, of Warren, were the ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. With it she wore a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The matron of honor wore a long frock of blue satin and tulle, with matching headpiece, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bride's mother chose a brown costume, while the mother of the bridegroom was attired in gray with navy blue accessories.

After a reception at the Hemlock community house, attended by 50 or more guests, the couple left for an eastern wedding trip. Upon their return, they will reside in Warren RD 1.

TODAY is pay day for all the folks who have classified ads.

Haines-Hawkey Rite Of Interest To Local Friends

The Madison Chapel church, in Madison, O., was the scene on Tuesday, February 1st, of the wedding of Abigail Cummings Hawkey, of Cumkey Place, Madison-on-the-lake, and the Rev. Perry F. Haines, D. D., of Union City.

Mrs. Hawkey is the daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Henry H. Cummings, of Tidouette, and the granddaughter of Charles Cummings, one of the founders and early preachers of the Chapel church.

The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's eldest son, the Rev. Perry F. Haines, Jr., Ph. D., pastor of the First Congregational church, of Lawrence, Mass.

The church was simply decorated with an arrangement of potted palms and candelabra. Appropriately music preceding the ceremony was furnished by Mrs. Carrie Adlard, of Madison.

The bride was given in marriage by her son, H. Roe Hawkey, Jr., of Wickliffe, O., and attended by her daughter, Miss Becky Hawkey, of Kirtsville, Mo. She was attired in a street length dress of cerise silk, with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his sons, Malcolm, of Detroit, Mich., and Wendell, of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Immediately following the ceremony, the family gathered at Cumkey place for a buffet luncheon.

Dr. and Mrs. Haines will reside in Union City, where he is pastor of the First Methodist church. Dr. Haines is known to many in Warren, since he and his family spent many summers at the lake and he was often guest speaker in local churches.

RAILROAD ANNOUNCES CAR SHOP CLOSINGS
Albany, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The New York Central railroad will close down its car shops at West Albany and East Buffalo Thursday night, closing more than 2,500 employees.
A railroad spokesman in New York last night said the layoffs would be "at least until the end of the month." He added that the shutdown was "because of a fall-off in the freight division of about 10 per cent thus far this year, as compared with a year ago."

The Delaware and Hudson railroad announced last Friday it would lay off more than 1,000 of its 9,000 workers today. They will be idle at least until Feb. 23, the D&H said.
Of the 1,000 layoffs on the Delaware and Hudson, more than 550 are employed in the Colonie shops near Albany. The railroad said the others are employed along the railroad's line from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to Rouses Point, N. Y., including about 280 in the Susquehanna division with headquarters at Oneonta.
The D&H spokesman said business was "somewhat lower than seasonal."

Andrews offered the resignation in a letter dated January 15, asserting that with "real reluctance" he had made the decision "to return to private life."
Mr. Truman commended him for his part in the development of the armed services procurement act of 1947.

Philadelphia, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Police raided a "smoker" in a downtown building last night—and the transportation problem that arose should happen to a bus company.
A total of 480 persons, including three men and four girls described as "principals" in the show, were seized in an auditorium, police said.

Mrs. Jesulita Torresa Robinet 23-year-old former Philippine guerrilla captain, got the support of her in-laws when her husband, Blair Robinet, Army veteran of the Bataan "death march," attempted to have their marriage annulled in Morgan town, W. Va. The ex-soldier claimed he had been forced into a "machine gun" wedding with the pretty Filipino girl after escaping from the Japanese of Bataan. He told the judge there had been no children of the marriage. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Robinet, of Cumberland, Md., refuted his claim, stated the couple had two children, born in the United States, and that they "love Jesulita like our own daughter." The judge set aside the annulment.
